

Who Won the Week?

Republican Consultants – Another week of interesting announcements and rumors about 2024 make it clear that there will be no shortage of hot races and primaries popping over the next 12 months.

Never-Question-Trumpers – According to the last MOScout/Remington poll, this is the majority position within the Missouri Republican Party. 56% of Republican think, even after his fourth indictment, that Trump has done nothing wrong. And another 29% shrug that even if he did, he shouldn't be prosecuted.

Andrew Bailey – Continues to jump into the spotlight on Republican hot-button issues. Scored a win to prevent an injunction against implementation of the "SAFE" legislation restricting gender-affirming care. And fired a warning shot at St. Louis City's move to regulate firearms.

Ginger Gooch – The judge from the Missouri Court of Appeals, Southern District, appears to be the favorite among court-watchers to join the MO Surpeme Court when Parson makes his pick.
